TALKIN' TRASH

I woke up this morning and found it difficult to face the day. My knee hurts. My lower back hurts. The second knuckle on my horn (middle) finger hurts. My son turns 29 tomorrow, and my daughter just turned 39. I am 57 years old, running five businesses, and raising a ten-year-old grandson. You might say most of the time I am harried.

I am not complaining. I am grateful. I have a terrific life. A wonderful wife, great family, and awesome friends. I just don't have the vigor to enjoy all God has given me. In other words, I am just flat tired most of the time.

So where do I begin to regain some of the vigor I enjoyed as a youth? I am twenty pounds overweight, and haven't exercised in twenty years. I quit drinking and drugging a few years ago, and I have never smoked. Last month I had a physical, and a heart stress test. I have been cleared by my doctor to start an exercise routine. Now I ask myself, "What kind of exercise program? Where do I begin?"

The next day after writing the three paragraphs above, I drag myself out of bed at 6 am, put on my clothes, and start moving. I am thinking the first thing I should do is move. I heard somewhere that "a body in motion tends to stay in motion." I go to the city park and walk around the track for a mile and a half. That's a start, right? The next day I get up and do it again, walking two miles on that day. Appears I am on a roll, but I end up missing the third day because "life" gets in my way.

However, I am resolved to get and stay healthy. I have been walking in the park and swimming most days. I know if I try to make too many changes all at once I am setting myself up for failure. I stop drinking Cokes, but that is the only change to my diet thus far. My wife is a great cook, so I don't want to start "dieting" any too soon!

What's next? I don't know yet, but watch for our next issue to see what is in store for an old fat biker with little time to exercise ~ and no energy!

5th Annual Washita Memorial Motorcycle Run '17

The Washita River Massacre occurred on November 27, 1868 when Lieutenant Colonel George Armstrong Custer attacked a sleeping band of peaceful Cheyenne living with Chief Black Kettle. This winter encampment was on reservation soil under protection of Fort Cobb, and was even flying a white flag to demonstrate they were actively avoiding conflict. It is estimated more than 150 people lost their lives that horrible day.

Amos Tallbear, Henry Sleeper, and several others decided to pay homage to the loss of those lives by hosting the Washita Memorial Motorcycle Run. This run is not like any run you have ever been on. It is not meant to excite and feed your fun, but rather to feed your soul. It is a very personal and spiritual event that will leave you humbled and somewhat sanctified. The purpose is to honor the men, women, and children that died at the hands of Custer's troops.

The 5th Annual Washita Memorial Motorcycle run will begin at the Lucky Star Casino in Concho, Oklahoma. Registration is $10 per bike and starts at 8:00a.m. K.S.U. at 9:30, even though all wheels and all ages are welcome. There will be no bar stops or alcohol served during this event. It is meant to educate the public and to show respect to not only the deceased, but to their descendants as well. It is a time of reflection and will leave you solemn and enriched. It is a relaxed, laid back, and peaceful way to share a piece of Oklahoma history that changed many lives forever.

Runs will include a visit to the Washita Museum with a free guided tour, 50/50 tickets, door prizes, t shirts, patches, breakfast at registration, dinner at last stop, a trip to the edge of the battlefield at the Pavilion, and will end at the Washita Battlefield in Cheyenne.

Regardless of your ethnicity, I challenge you to attend this run. It is an experience rather than an event. You will definitely not leave the same as you came.

Pause for PAAS Poker Run

It's really sad that there are STILL so many animals that have no people to love, because that's all most dogs and cats want, yet it's made worse when we have shelters overflowing with animals and animal control agencies are restricted in where they can go by geography or funding, but there are people who go out and gather up abandoned cats and dogs, clean, feed and transport them to other states where the need for pets exceeds the number available for adoption. They also spay and neuter and offer pet training.

All of this costs money that government agencies don't contribute much to, so it is truly a labor of love. Peaceful Animal Adoption Center (PAAS) is a local group leading the charge to help local dogs and cats find new homes, and they are hosting their SECOND Poker Run on Oct. 7 to help Oklahoma's homeless furry friends. Last year's Run was so fun, they've "UPPED THE ANTE" (get it?) for 2017. There are gift certificates for dinner for EIGHT at Big Creek Ranch (with a Clydesdale drawn carriage ride), a bunch of biker accessories and memorabilia, a helicopter tour of Grand Lake and some even bigger goodies that we hear might include a week-long beach trip to Venice Beach, Florida, but we won't say for sure.

PAAS has lots of info on their Facebook or Website page (www.paasvinita.com) and you can call them at (918) 256-7227 if you have questions (or if you want to adopt a pet. HINT!!!). The PAAS Shelter is located on 628 Wilson Street in Vinita and they are always accepting donations. They are a 501c3 organization, so your contribution can be tax deductible. The Run starts at 10 a.m. at the PAAS store in Vinita (last bike out at 11 a.m.) and last bike finishes by 4 p.m.

Be sure to check out their website blog; the stories are sad, happy and sweet, but after you read stories of animal perseverance, you quickly learn that we ALL deserve love. And treats.

This story is dedicated to Rick Ziegenfoos who covered this ride for Oklahoma Biker last year. Rest in Peace, My Friend.

Celebrating A Year Under Former Management At Patchwork Pup

As many know, Glenda Garner started Patchwork Pup in 2000 and owned it for many years, she took a lot of pride in every job that she did, and retired in October 2013. Turns out, Patchwork and Glenda needed each other, so last year, she dusted off her sewing needle and got back to work. Last September PW Pup had a Grand Re-Opening party to celebrate their reunion and new location.

On Saturday, September 23, exactly one year later, Glenda wants to have a little party just like last year's shebang with you getting all the presents AGAIN! The Open House will be 10 a.m. – 10 p.m.: bouncy houses and games for kids, raffles, a 50/50 Drawing, Tee Shirt Toss, patch sewing, 20% off the (YUMMY) leather, FREE brisket, hot dogs and beer for as long as it holds out, and we bet there are about a dozen more things she's dreaming up between now and then.

As before, the band gets started at 6 and the day will be all about relaxing, making friends, and having a good time. There is no charge for anything, it's all about good karma for customers who have become family and stood by Glenda over the years. Come out, see (and smell) the new shop, fill your belly with good food and fill your heart with love and laughter. Glenda can be reached with questions at (918) 978-7578, patchworkpup.com, Facebook: patchworkpup.

Maybe somebody could bring Glenda some flowers or something? I mean, she has a party and gives US gifts? Who DOES that these days? Make sure you check out all that spectacular leather in her shop; it's smelling even sweeter at 20% cheaper!

BIKELAHOMA VETERANS HELPING VETERANS

MUSKOGEE, Okla. – Bikelahoma for the Barracks, a fundraiser for vets in need, needs us. Local businessman, Alex Reynolds, donated the Grace Living facility in Muskogee to B4B staff to obtain career guidance and training, as a homeless shelter, a therapy center and home for vets. In April, scum-sucking A-holes ('scum' for short) broke in, stole all the copper from the building, the AC unit and busted the place up to boot (costing B4B about $60,000). But there's a way to help restore this Center in Muskogee back to what it needs to be and we need you to help us make it happen.

October 7 is your shot to get with others who love our vets as much as we do and wear your American pride unapologetically. Step away from your Facebook rants and cat memes. Bring the family for the afternoon, then show your special someone a great night out. Bring old friends and make new ones. Live music, food, beer and kid entertainment are only the beginning.

Family events happen at Hatbox Field in Muskogee from 2-6 p.m. and the whole family is welcome, then they will progress into a 'grown-ups-only' event with bands and brews from about 7-11:45 p.m.

Download apps in iTunes or the Google

Play Store; find bands, buy tickets, donate and more is all there. Find them on Facebook too (search for 'Bikelahoma for the Barracks'). Specific questions can be forwarded to Victor Lezama at info@thepclz.com or by calling (918) 729-5365.

Local vets gave so much only to bring the war home with them. Their efforts are not in vain; Bikelahoma is making big changes. Show our local vets they are never forgotten. If you are military, come out and get your long-overdue accolades. Thank you and God Bless.

BIKE NIGHTS?!

After reading the results of a Facebook Poll asking the question "What makes a great bike night?" I'm very secure that my take on what the motorcycling community has become is very well founded. Here's the top 12. Pleasant weather, well sure, but Spring only lasts like 5 days here in Oklahoma, so you need to suck it up and deal with what mother nature throws at you or take the BMW. Motorcycles – really? At Bike Night? Who'da thunk? Live Music (but not too loud for conversation) – maybe you're looking for a bike night with a lounge act playing some Burt Bacharach or possibly a few selections from Kenny G or Zamfir. "If it's too loud, you're too old". Cold Beer, Good Food Raffles/Drawings and Outdoor Patio – I can't agree with you more! A Good Ride – well folks, a ride is what you make it. If you want a good ride, plan it that way. Not at a bar, Smoke free environment and not too late – Pfffft. And lastly Weekend night would be best – See, when all this Bike Night stuff started, the whole idea was for businesses to generate money/ business on a slow, middle of the week night. (kinda like Ladies Night). After all, people like me have other "Motorcycle" things to do on most weekends, like Runs and Rallies and vacations and riding trips and that would significantly reduce the number of people going to Bike Night. If you own a bike, I see no reason in the world why every night shouldn't be bike night!

I came up with a few alternative ideas for some of you to help you enjoy Bike Night! Feel free to use these ideas because I sure the hell won't.

Pallet and Pinot Bike Night – This would be a quaint little gathering where a few people could sit around an environmentally protected lake and paint oil paintings while sipping a nice Chardonnay and listening to a highly talented musician play folk music on a prima balalaika. Of course, no loud pipes are allowed at this type of event for fear of disturbing the artists and the wildlife. Gosh, this would be splendid!

Gallery and Gear Jammers - How about a nice evening at the local Art Gallery? You could bring in a string quartet to play and have wine and cheese tasting! That would be fabulous!

Salon and Scooters Bike Night – A wonderful evening of relaxation for you, your trophy wife and that Show Pony Bike of yours! Muffin can get her nails did, you can get a mani/pedi while getting your chest waxed and possibly a full detail job on the bike. This would all go so well with some smooth Jazz provided by a whimsical trio. How wonderful!

Books, Bikes and BBQ - This could be held at your local Library. A nice evening discussing the book of the week and enjoying some BBQ off the local artisan food trucks parked outside. This too is a "NO LOUD PIPES" event and no music allowed at this shindig.

Hipster and Harleys Bike Night - Ummm, skinny jeans, man bun, the stink of patchouli. I think I just threw up a little in my mouth.

I did a little survey of my friends about what a bike night should be and most came up with one thing in common. Our Bike Nights are brought to you by the letter "B"! Brotherhood, bikes, Babes (with big boobs busting out of their bra's), serving beer and burgers in a bikini that barely covers her butt while a bodacious band blasts the blues of B B King and Bo Diddley as you boogie with your Baby on the boards of the dance floor and drink Beam and make bad decisions about staying out 'til the bouncer sends you home to bed before you wake up with a "Bubba" of a hangover and begrudgingly bid your bed goodbye only to have your Boss bust your balls before firing your butt because your breath and body smell like a brewery.

Yep, that sounds about right. There are a ton of Bike nights, go find one you like and support your local businesses and live music!

BIKES, BLUES & BBQ

ARKANSAS' BEST BIKER EVENT

It was just a few years ago when Bikes Blues and BBQ didn't even have a name; it was just a poker run with a BBQ grill, a blues band, and a handful of bikes at a Dickson Street Jose's Mexican restaurant. Then it became America's fastest growing rally, and then the world's largest charity rally, and now suddenly, it's been 18 years.

Bikers come from all over and fill every hotel and motel within a 30+ mile radius. Others decide to camp all weekend regardless of primitive conditions.

At BB&B you can expect a parade, a bike show, bike give-a-ways, the BBB Babes contest, incredible barbecue, of course, along with several other official and non-official events. The party seems to never end and really comes alive at night on Dickson Street. Live bands take turns playing amazing music all the way to Eureka Springs.

Last year a record of $230,000 was raised for local charities despite a slight decline in attendance. Normal attendance is between 350,000 and 400,000 although it's nearly impossible to calculate the actual numbers since it has become so popular and widespread.

BB & B has been going strong since 2000 and takes place every year, usually the last weekend of September. This year the rally date is set for September 20-23. People generally book their rooms a year in advance so if you can't get a hotel, the event is only a few hours away from Tulsa. Many bikers show their support, even if it's just for the day.

If you have never attended Bikes, Blues, and Barbecue, I highly recommend it. While you are there, purchase an event tee shirt. Every time you wear it, no doubt someone will engage in conversation with you sharing their own personal memories.
